THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

In this Sunday's Gospel Peter comes to Jesus and asks a very pertinent question, "Lord, how often must I forgive my brother (or sister) if he wrongs me? As often as seven times?" Jesus an-swered, "Not seven, I tell you, but seventy seven times." Jesus strongly suggests that we forgive one another as often as there is need. Forgiveness is one of the great human qualities that is seldom practiced but is absolutely essential if we are to sustain and build good relationships with each other. This is especially true in the confines of the family. Too often we offend or hurt each other by what we do and say, by taking one another for granted and by offering cold shoulder or sharp face to those we are called to love. The first reading mentions the side effects of not forgiving and restoring relationships. Resentment and anger may prevail. Vengeance may raise its ugly head and persistent anger may fester to explode again with even greater hurt. Ha-anger.
